Townend tops end of season rankings

OLIVER TOWNEND heads British Eventing's top 100 list for 2014. He notched up 1,556 points, giving him his first win in these rankings since 2009.

William Fox-Pitt finishes second and Andrew Nicholson — the winner for the past four years — comes third.

David Doel takes the Goldman Cup as the leading under-21 rider, while Louise Harwood's ride Whitson, who is owned by Roy Baker, who bred him, and Rob's daughter, Emma Baker-Jones, is the leading horse.

Another British-bred, the Barlows' Avebury (Andrew Nicholson), is second, with Catherine Witt's Bay My Hero (William Fox-Pitt) third.
